Our States Attorney Talks to the Ladies.

Those who failed to hear Mr. Morrison's address before the Woman's Legal Club yesterday missed a treat. The speaker went back to pioneer days and told how the first provision was made for raising a school fund, what it consisted in, how it was vested, and what further plans had been adopted to raise money for school purposes as increase in population demanded. He detailed the duties of all school officers from State and County Superintendents to local school directors; described the method by which the state is divided into school townships; defined the meaning of the word "township" as distinct from the word "town," defined the word "range," in this connection, and gave other useful bits of information which were listened to with the closest attention. He then gave a history of the movement in favor of giving to women the right to vote for school trustees and school directors; why their rights were limited to these offices, and read a portion of the latest decision of the supreme court delivered on January 19th last, in the celebrated Mt. Vernon case; which decision, he said practically settled the case in favor of the women of this state under the present laws. In answer to questions, Mr. Morrison then gave the women directions about voting at the coming school election; told them of certain business pursuits that would render a candidate ineligible under the law to any school office; what degree of inattention to duty could and should lead to the removal of a school director, and pointed out some of the violations which prevail in regard to the construction of school buildings—notably the lack of fire-escapes. At the close of his remarks Mr. Morrison received a hearty vote of thanks for his carefully prepared and intensely interesting and instructive talk.

—The regular Easter services of Dixon Commandery K T. will be conducted Sunday afternoon at three o'clock in the Commandery Asylum, by Rev. H C Leland. The service will be public.

—Notwithstanding 200,000 copies were printed of last Saturday's anniversary edition of the Inter-Ocean, the demand so far exceeded the expectations of the publishers that their orders were in advance of the supply by more than 100 000 copies.

—Just at noon today parties on the streets saw a good-sized building on wheels drawn by a double team of horses, four abrest, progressing quite rapidly down Galena avenue. It was Delmarch's stable, and was being taken across the river to the new residence of Mrs. Ingraham's family. Its dimensions were such as to fill completely the roadway of the bridge.

—Dana Johnson is twenty years old today, and he this morning received through G. O. Wendel a beautiful gold watch. Some weeks ago a relative of the young man purchased the time-piece, with instructions to Mr. Wendel to hand it to Dana on March 29, without letting him know that it is his to keep until he reads of his good fortune in the EVENING TELEGRAPH, and without disclosing the name of the donor.

—The spring session at the Normal commenced yesterday. The opening of the term was auspicious and Prof. Dille asserts that the attendance or enrollment will be between eight and nine hundred, a number largely in excess of the enrollment at former spring sessions. Many old students have returned, highly pleased to be again at their old school, for all who have ever attended the spring sessions have enjoyed the charming social features and have been benefitted by the reviews conducted under normal methods.

—Rev. S. Earngey has been excused from pulpit service for several weeks, and the official board of the M. E. church have made arrangements for the three forthcoming Sundays as follows: Next Sunday (Easter) Dr. Traveler, Superintendent of City Missions in Chicago, will preach morning and evening. A thank offering will be taken during the service for Mrs. Jennie Caldwell, the evangelist, whose eminent services were interrupted by the death of the pastor's wife. One week from Sunday Rev. Dr. Swartz will preach; and the following Sabbath will be the regular quarterly meeting and Dr. Vanhorne, of Rockford, will conduct the services.

—We are pleased to learn as we do from a Washington dispatch that our fellow citizen, Sherwood Dixon, will be appointed United States District Attorney for Northern Illinois. Mr. Dixon is a man whose native ability and legal acquirements are recognized all over the state and outside of his own party; and from the ranks of the democracy of Illinois no more fitting selection could have been made. Eckels, his opponent, will get some first-rate position in Washington or abroad. Mr. Dixon will not get the position for about a year, which will give him ample time to arrange his own extensive legal business in proper shape, and in the meantime his friends will be happy in the consciousness that the position is being saved for him.

—A case of bad politics now exists in the town of Nachusa. There are two tickets in the field for town officers; one styled "Republican" and the other "People's," each of which, however, contains the names of two Republicans and two Democrats. The nomination papers for both sides appear to have been filed on the same day, March 20. Written objections, however, were filed to the People's ticket by their opponents, on the grounds that it was not filed at least fifteen days previous to election, as required by the Australian ballot law. But according to the statutary rules for the computation of such time, there seems to be no force to this objection. However, in as much as the final decision upon the objection is left to the town auditors, one-half of whom are candidates for re election on the "Republican" ticket, so called the other ticket may be rejected. E E Wingert appeared before the auditors yesterday and argued against the objection. The decision was reserved until the objectors could get counsel to appear for them.

ISSUES TO DEBATE.

Senate Talkers Have a Great Opportunity.

THREE POINTS TO QUARREL OVER.

Election of Officers, Investigation of Roach, and Appointees of Governors—No Averting a Look Into Roach's Record—The Election Matter to Come Up in Open Senate—Ex-President Harrison's Brother an Applicant for Office—The Real Point of Objection in That Russian Treaty.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The resolutions for the election of officers of the senate—W. R. Cox, of North Carolina, as secretary; Richard J. Bright, of Indiana, as sergeant-at-arms, and Rev. Mr. Milburn as chaplain—coupled with conditions that they shall not enter on the discharge of their duties until the 30th of June next, up to which time the present incumbents are to remain in office, were offered in the senate yesterday and went over. The case of Senator Roach, of North Dakota, was brought before the senate in the shape of a resolution, offered by Hoar, directing the committee on privileges and elections to investigate the allegations of criminal embezzlement and to report the facts. This resolution also went over

Will Be an Open Senate Fight.

The introduction by Gorman of the senate caucus resolution providing for a reorganization of the force of senate officers means a transfer of the struggle from secret session to the open sessions of the senate. All compromise having failed and all attempts to adjust the matter amicably in private having come to naught the fight is now to be waged in the open field. Just what the outcome will be cannot be predicted, but there is reason to believe that both sides are half-hearted in the matter, and it is safe to say that a majority of the senators really do not feel sufficient interest in the reorganization to make a very spirited contest on either side of the proposition. Of course this seeming apathy may vanish as the fight progresses and hard things are said in the course of the debate.

The Proposed Roach Inquiry.

Careful inquiry discloses the fact that the resolution looking to the investigation of the charges against Roach were presented by Hoar of his own volition and not as the result of any caucus action. It is also evident that some Republican senators do not look with favor upon the proposition. They hold that the acts of a man before his election as a senator is not a proper subject of investigation, provided they have no connection with his election. In support of this proposition one Republican senator cited the report made to the house by General Butler when he was chairman of the judiciary committee which was called upon to pass upon a similar question.

Bound to Investigate Now.

The Democratic senators were plainly vexed at Hoar's move, although they had had timely notice of his intention through the medium of the newspapers. It is intimated that the Democratic steering committee will consult upon the matter and agree upon the course that shall be pursued in the disposition of the resolution. But if the opinions of the Democratic senators are any indication there does not appear to be any feasible way to stop the investigation now. Under the practice of the senate any senator can secure an investigation of almost any matter within reason and any attempt to prevent the present inquiry might be looked upon as an admission of guilt.

Wants It Made Sweeping.

One of the leading Democratic senators said that even if Roach had committed any offense as charged, it was when he was a young man; he had gone west and lived an upright life and had been a credit to his adopted state. Now if it were proposed to go into an investigation of this kind it might as well be made sweeping and take in the personal character and antecedents of every senator on the floor.

EXTRADITION TO RUSSIA.

The Clause of the Treaty that Is Really Objected To.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—In connection with efforts that are making in the senate to have the seal of secresy removed from the Russian treaty, it is stated that the clause providing that attempts on the life of a ruler shall not be political offenses is not what is principally objected to. The real difficulty is found hidden in the text and of seemingly innocent purport so far as anything political is concerned. The treaty makes the forgery of any government paper or document an offense for which the guilty person may be extradited

Refugees Forge Their Passports.

It is well known that no political suspect can escape from Russia without the aid of a passport and that he cannot secure that coveted document. Necessarily he is compelled to resort to the expedient of forgery and the instrument that passes him through the frontier is forgery—the forgery of a government paper. By this means it is argued that the Russian government has by virtue of the treaty ratified by the United States a veritable dragnet with which it can pull back to its boundaries every man who makes his escape and punish him—not for the political offense, but the act of forgery. The result, it is claimed, will be the same, for it removes the individual from every right of asylum which he has gained by flight to this country.

Only Way to Stop It.

The treaty has already been ratified by the senate so the matter has really passed out of its hands and the only way in which the treaty can be stopped is by a successful appeal to the president not to exchange ratifications and promulgate it, a thing he would be extremely disinclined to do in view of the treaty having received more than a two-thirds vote in the senate.

GOSSIP ABOUT THE OFFICES.

General Harrison's Brother a Staunch Democrat and Applicant.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—John Scott Harrison, of Kansas City, a brother of ex-President Harrison, but a staunch Democrat, called on President Cleveland yesterday. He would like to be surveyor of customs at Kansas City. He was introduced by Representative Tarsney. Senator Doiph called and introduced to the president Miss Edith M. Day, of Portland, Ore., who is traveling in the opposite direction to that taken by Miss Mitchell, of Chicago, making a trip of the western states and Mexico without touching her foot to the ground before she returns to her place of departure. Miss Day spent a few hours in the city and then resumed her journey.

Wants Them Made "Preferred Eligibles."

By the operation of the last sundry civil bill the employment of substitute clerks in the several departments of the government is fixed until the end of the present fiscal year. In consequence of this law between fifteen and thirty persons employed as substitutes in the treasury department will be dropped from the rolls when the act takes effect. As these appointments are made through the civil service commission Secretary Carlisle has interested himself in the matter, and in a letter sent to the commission yesterday he strongly urges that the persons to be dropped be made preferred eligibles for appointment hereafter.

Shut Out From the Cabinet.

Yesterday was the first day the new presidentail order that no visitors on Tuesdays and Fridays was put in force. The order was rigidly observed and no callers were received. The rooms were darkened and the secretaries worked uninterruptedly. The effect of the order was to keep away nearly all the congressmen and office-seekers who had been haunting the departments.

A Little Misstatement Corrected.

The report that R. W. Gilder has endorsed an application by Professor Maurice F. Egan, of Notre Dame, Ind., for appointment as minister to Greece, is denied both by Egan and Gilder. The fact is that Professor Egan has not applied for that or any other position under the government nor has Gilder applied for any position for Professor Egan or for any other friend.

Mighty Hungry for this Place.

There are not less than 672 applications on file for appointment to the vacancy of paymaster in the army with the rank of major to which Lieutenant Dapray, Secretary Elkins' military aid, was nominated by President Harrison but not confirmed by the senate.

Why Sorsby Was Bounced.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The only nominations sent to the senate yesterday were George D. Dillard, of Mississippi, to be consul general at Guayaquil, and Ezra W. Miller, United States attorney for the district of South Dakota. Dillard succeeds William Sorsby, who was removed by cable by Secretary Gresham almost as soon as he came into office. It was alleged that Sorsby while clerk to Representative Catchings, of Mississippi, took from his employer's desk important papers relating to the Democratic campaign and turned them over to Thomas H. Carter, then on the Republican congressional campaign committee.

Stump for Immigration Commissioner.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Ex-Representative Stump, of Maryland, has been selected for commissioner of immigration to succeed Commissioner Owen, of Indiana. The nomination will be sent to the senate today. There has been an earnest contest for this place, Stump served in the last two congresses, is the author of what is known as the Stump immigration bill and was chairman of the house immigration committee in the last congress.

Held Official Honors Briefly.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The resignation of Governor Pierce as minister to Portugal has been received by Secretary Gresham. Pierce was appointed Jan. 4 last to fill a vacancy, left this country a month later and arrived by a circuitous route at Lisbon after President Cleveland's inauguration. It is understood that his first official act after presentation at court was to resign.

And This in the Land of the Free!

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Admiral Gherardi's flagship Philadelphia has a bandmaster who is dissatisfied with the uniform he is required to wear, and has tendered his resignation to Secretary Herbert. He says the uniform makes him look like a member of the Salvation Army and has brought upon him insults and assaults beyond endurance.

Whoop 'Em Up, Brother Maxwell.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The whole clerical force of the postoffice has been ordered to stay from 4 to 5 o'clock and will be at work arranging papers so that Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Maxwell may work more easily. Yesterday forty-eight fourth-class postmasters were appointed, of whom thirty-seven were removals.

Against Governor's Appointees.

WASHINGTON, March 29. — Senator Vance submitted to the senate yesterday the minority report of the committee on privileges and elections opposing the seating of Mantle of Montana, and the other two governor-appointed senators. The argument of the minority is that governors cannot appoint a senator to begin a term.

Willets Will Stick for Awhile.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Up to date there are ten applications on file in the department of agriculture for the assistant secretaryship. Among them are: E. L. Merritt, Springfield, Ills.; Charles Griffiths, Illinois, and Daniel Strange, Michigan. There will, however, be no immediate successor to Assistant Secretary Willets.

NO CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

Anti-Pinkerton Law Paw Passed—New Apportionment for Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, March 29.—The senate yesterday passed the anti-Pinkerton bill—28 to 1; also the bill giving the state university the money granted it by congress. The bill prohibiting the loaning of state money was sent to third reading. The senatorial apportionment bill prepared by the Democratic caucus was introduced and sent to second reading without submission to a committee. It was also made special order for today—all votes being strictly partisan. A number of other bills were sent to second reading.

Defeated that Convention.

The house defeated the resolution for a constitutional convention. The vote was 71 to 57, and the debate on the matter was quite lively, and occupied nearly the whole session. After the vote killing the covention had been taken the house adjourned.

Naval Officer to Marry a Chinese Girl.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—A correspondent of an evening paper, writing from Honolulu under date of March 16, says: "Not the least interesting bit of gossip here is the formal announcement of the engagement of Commander Whitney, of the United States man-of-war Alliance, to Miss Etta Ah Fong, daughter of Ah Fong, a wealthy Chinese merchant of Honolulu.

Latmer the Murderer Captured.

LANSING, Mich., March 29.—A telegram from Jerome, Hillsdale county, states that Latmer, the double murderer who escaped from Jackson prison Sunday night, has been captured. He was buying a pair of shoes when he was recognized, and though he fled was too exhausted to get away.

LAST OF HIS ORDER

Death of Kirby Smith, Junior Confederate General.

A NOTABLE FIGURE OF THE WAR.

He Closes the List of Men of Highest Military Rank Who Saw Service Between '61 and '65 on Either Side—Born of a Military Family He Made a Brilliant Record Fighting for the Cause That Was Lost—Sketch of an Eventful Career—Burial of Editor Shepard.

SEWANEE, Tenn., March 29.—General E. Kirby Smith, professor of mathematics in the University of the South since 1875, died here yesterday at 3:25 p. m. For two years his health had been declining. Two weeks ago he was taken sick in New Orleans and was confined to his bed for five or six days, but recovered sufficiently to travel and reported at Sewanee ready for duty Monday, March 19. Two days afterwards he caught cold and a relapse ensued, his condition being complicated by congestion of the right lung. Everything in human power was done to save him, but from the first it was evident that the chances were against his recovery.

Last Words a Bible Quotation.

Once or twice during temporary periods of semi-consciousness his mind wandered through past scenes and he ordered the batteries to come up. Early yesterday morning he became totally unconscious. His end was very peaceful. His wife and six of his family were with him. One of his very last connected utterances was a verse from the xxiii psalm. "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me."

Came of a Family of Soldiers.

General E. Kirby Smith was born in St. Augustine, Fla., May 16, 1824, and was therefore in the 69th year of his age. With him closes the list of full generals on both sides during the late war, his commission as full general in the Confederate service having been issued Feb. 19, 1864. He came from an illustrious family of soldiers that has participated with distinction in every war waged in this country since the old French war. His grandfather served both against the French and the British, being a major in the revolutionary war. His father was colonel in the war of 1812 and was afterwards made United States judge of the supreme court of Florida. His elder brother was twice brevetted for gallantry on the field in the same war.

Last of a Southern Galaxy.

This veteran warrior and teacher is the last of that galaxy of soldiers whose vanquishment tells the history of the "Lost Cause." He was the junior of the seven full generals of the Confederacy. Arrangements have been made for a special train to carry a large delegation of Confederate soldiers to pay their last respects to their dead commander.

SERVICES TO THE CONFEDERACY.

A Brilliant Record of Deeds of Daring—Blockade Running.

General Smith was graduated at the United States Military academy in 1845 and received the rank of brevet second lieutenant and at onceentered the Mexican war. At the close of the war with Mexico he went to West Point as professor of mathematics, receiving a captain's commission, and went to the frontier in 1855. In 1861 he was promated to be major and when Florida seceded from the Union was appointed lieutenant colonel of cavalry in in the Confederate army. His record during the civil war was a brilliant one, his exploits at Bull Run and in the campaigns in Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Texas and on the sea coast being some of the most famous deeds of daring in the history of that great struggle.

His Most Efficient Work.

General Smith's most efficient service was in managing the blockade-running department in the southwestern states. He forwarded much cotton to Europe and received in return from France and England munitions of war and materials for clothing. He established furnaces and factories and when the war closed his department was more than self-supporting. After hostilities ceased General Smith entered commercial life and from 1866 to 1868 he was president of the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph company. From 1870 to 1875 he was chancellor of the University of Nashville, Tenn., and since that time had been professor of mathematics in the University of the South at Sewanee.

Leaves Eleven Living Children.

General Smith married Miss Cassie Selden, of Virginia, in 1863. His wife and eleven children survive him. His eldest son, F. K. Smith, Jr., has been for some years a civil engineer in Mexico. Funeral services will be held Friday.

Funeral of Colonel Shepard.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Committees from various organizations, political and otherwise, with a regiment of personal friends, attended the burial services of Colonel Elliott F. Shepard yesterday morning, which were held in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, Rev. John Hall officiating. Dr. Hall's sermon was an eloquent eulogy of the deceased. The remains were placed in the Vanderbilt vault in the Moravian cemetery on Staten Island at New Dorp

More Pay for Carpenters.

CHICAGO, March 29.—The high scale of wages for carpenters at the fair will go into effect next Saturday. After that day all the carpenters will get 40 cents an hour. They are paid 35 cents now. The men made the demand some time ago, and strengthened it by an agreement with the bosses that they would not go on strike for two years if the scale were granted. They also agreed to work for no bosses except those who signed their scale.

Another Who'll Not Be Missed.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Stephen Broadwell died in the prison pen at Bellevue hospital early yesterday from a complication of diseases. Broadwell had several aliases and his career of daring crimes has made him known to the police of the principal cities of the country as one of the most dangerous and skillful counterfeiters and forgers in the United States. He was 62 years of age.

In Honor of Ex-Senator Dawes.

BOSTON, March 29.—Ex-Senator Dawes was given a rousing reception at the Vendome Monday night, in recognition of his conspicuous public services to his state. Hon. William M. Chapin presided. During the evening an engrossed testimonial accompanied by a check for $1,000 was presented Mr. Dawes.

BISMARCK SERIOUSLY SICK.

The Man of Blood and Iron Said to Be Near Death.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Dr. Dorn, who was five years on Count von Moltke's staff and is now a correspondent in this city for leading German journals, has received a private cablegram from Berlin which says: "Prince Bismarck is in a critical condition. He has been suffering for several weeks with neuralgia and insomnia and his doctors have not been able this time to conquer the two enemies which attack him every winter. His strength and vigor are giving way rapidly, his pulse is very weak and his appetite exceedingly bad. In spite of all this, it is very difficult to keep the patient in bed and tranquil.

His Ruling Passion Still Strong.

"As soon as he awakes he wants to get up and he will not give rest until the Princess Bismarck, who is herself sick, comes to his bedside to read to him his correspondence and newspapers from Berlin and Hamburg. Yesterday morning he had a fit and his two sons, in Fiume and Hamburg, have been wired for. His doctors wanted to remove him to a better climate, but he will not listen to them, and insists on receiving his friends on the 1st of April, his birthday. Emperor William receives daily bulletins."

ARGUED THE ANN ARBOR CASE.

Points the Lawyers Made in the Matter—Arthur's Testimony.

TOLEDO, March 29.—Chief Arthur, of the engineers' brotherhood, was the only witness examined in the Ann Arbor case yesterday and the feature of his testimony was the little he told. He denied having any knowledge of the boycott order; denied that he had authority to order a strike or boycott, all of which was entirely in the hands of the men; admitted that he sent the telegrams attributed to him, but said they only "announced" that a strike was on or off; declared that the men need not strike on his telegrams, and generally left it in doubt as to how he earned his salary.

PETER M. ARTHUR.

The Lawyers Take the Case.

A. L. Smith, for the company, began the argument. He said the suit was not an attack on union labor. Arthur was practically at the head of the strike and it was a mere subterfuge that the men acted individually in refusing to handle Ann Arbor freight. Arthur did know of the court's order and was practically in contempt. If the judge refused to renew the injunction interstate traffic would be stopped by the boycott, which would be immediately in force and do incalculable damage. Frank Hurd, after proposing to concede everything claimed by the prosecution as to the evils of the boycott, said Arthur had nothing to do with it, as the boycott was the act of the men.

E. W. Tolerton closed for the company, adding nothing of interest, and the court announced that decisions would be rendered in both cases Monday.

EDISON EXPRESSES AN OPINION.

The Great Inventor Makes a Few Casual Remarks.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Dispatches from Washington intimate that the decision of the supreme court in the Huber patent case practically destroys Edison's quadruplex patent. Edison said Monday night that he believed the American patents on the quadruplex had already expired. He added: "The man who framed the law making American patents expire when the prior foreign patents expire was a Himalayan jackass. I have never made any money on any patents except in England. It is supposed that the patent laws were made for the benefit of inventors, but there is not one inventor in a thousand that has any interest in the final decision of the courts.

Troubles of the Inventors.

"I was perfectly indifferent to the decision in the incandescent lamp case. If it were the practice of the courts to let the inventor have the delay and not the pirates he would get some recompense for his time and labor. If an inventor happens to put something on the market that is of real worth and the pirate sees it the first thing the inventor knows he has a powerful rival, which threatens to engulf him at the start."

The Parson Lost His Clothes.

MEMPHIS, March 29.—The water in the tank in the Christian church in which converts are dipped is heated by means of gasoline stoves under the tank. The stoves were lighted Sunday evening and the pastor, Rev. S. B. Moore, donned his baptismal robe and prepared to immerse the candidates. Just then the flames set fire to the floor and Mr. Moore's clothes were burned. He had to go home in his bathing suit.

Deaths From Grip at New York.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Eleven deaths from grip were recorded at the office of the health board yesterday. The total number of deaths registered up to noon yesterday was 201, against 112 recorded Monday. The increase, however, is due to the fact that the number includes the deaths for two days in the institutions under the care of the commissioners of charities and corrections.

Railway Rates to the Fair.

CHICAGO, March 29.—Western Passenger association lines spent yesterday considering the report of the committee on World's fair rates. The basis will be a maximum reduction of 20 or 25 per cent. Provision will be made for one-way rates for excursions on first-class trains and 1 cent a mile rates for coach excursions.

RECKLESS MILITIA.

Bloody Battle Fought in the Choctaw Nation.

FOUR PARTICIPANTS BADLY HURT.

A Citizen's House Assaulted With a Fusillade From Winchesters While His Wife and Babies Were at Home—The Attack the Sequel of a Feud—United States Officials Take a Hand and Nab Some of the Assailants—Details.

FORT SMITH, Ark., March 29.—A battle was fought yesterday at Antlers, I. T., between Indian factions. One hundred and fifty men were on each side. Ten men killed and fifteen wounded is the result. One side represented the Choctaw government and is termed the National militia, the other is composed of the followers of R. M. Locke, who resists arrest, fearing that he will be killed instead of being given a trial by law. United States officers arrested nineteen of the leaders of the militia at 7 p. m. and took them to Paris, Tex. All is quiet at present. In the Choctaw elections last summer there were charges of fraud and four men were assassinated. This led to a factional war which was suppressed by United States forces.

In Further Explanation.

Mr. Locke, who is a prominent merchant of Antlers was charged with inciting these murders, but was not arrested. The militia was sent out to arrest him and others, when their friends rallied to their support and the result was the battle. Telegrams just received say the militia attacked Locke's party at his private residence, which was riddled with bullets. Every window was shot out. Three of Locke's men were badly wounded, fifteen militia men wounded and five reported dead.

Full Account of the Trouble.

The following account of the trouble is sent by an American Press correspondent at Paris, Tex.: A sharp encounter took place at Antlers at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and for thirty minutes a volley of leaden hail fell about the town. At that hour the militia suddenly came from the woods and charged down upon the residence of Dick Locke, the leader of the National party, and opened fire on it. Locke saw them coming and hurriedly got into his house when the fusillade began. Locke with five men, returned the fire from the upper story. Fully 1,500 shots were fired, every window was shot out, and the sides of the house were perforated like a sieve. Stray bullets flew far and wide and terror and consternation prevailed throughout the little town.

Lee Lays Down Uncle Sam's Law.

The attack was a surprise to every one. At daylight yesterday morning the militia under command of Captain Key Durant went to Locke's house and insisted on searching it. He was not at home, but in the mountains about three miles from town. After remaining in town a while they returned to camp. Word was conveyed to Locke and in company with his son and seven others he went home to see what had been done. He reached there about 1 o'clock in the morning. United States Commissioner Kirkpatrick Lee had a consultation with Durant, who is a United States deputy marshal, and told him that the United States would hold responsible the party that started a fight. It transpired at this conference that Durant had papers for only one man, Willis Jones, under indictment for murder.

OPENING OF THE BATTLE.

Attack on Locke's House by the Militia With Winchesters.

No one expected an outbreak then, and the American Press correspondent went to Antlers with Durant's party, where Locke also came and stated what the law was—which statement was later verified by the county judge. It was in effect that any of his friends who were wanted would surrender to the sheriff on warrants, the law requiring warrants before arrests could be made. In short he proposed to submit to the sheriff, but claimed that the militia had no right to interfere. The party then started for the militia camp, where they were met by a force of militia headed by Judge Duke, who refused to hear any proposition and started at once for Locke's house. Locke asked them to allow his wife and children and the women and children in the Methodist parsonage to get out of the way.

Brave Conduct of Mrs. Locke.

The sharp report of a Winchester ended the parley and a furious battle was on. Mrs Locke went out of her house into the street and denounced Duke and his followers as cowardly, brutal murderers and crossed to the parsonage to assure Mrs. Halland and her husband that Mr. Locke would not fire upon their house, which the attacking party had taken refuge behind. Meanwhile Captain Thompson had come and begged the militia to stop firing. After a parley the militia withdrew and went into camp a mile away. Mrs. Locke then went to town and sent physicians to her house. Marshal Lee telegraphed to Marshal Dickerson at Paris to send a strong force, as they had warrants for the militia.

Casualties in the Fight.

The results of the battle are these: Luke Hill, shot through the shoulder, dangerous; John Worcester and Silem Homer, shot in the head, seriously wounded. Of the militia—Solomon Baptiste, shot through the side and mortally wounded, and three others have flesh wounds. Locke's little daughter had her hair burned by a bullet as she was going up stairs with her mother's baby in her arms. A ball passed through Locke's hat and his son's arm was grazed. It is said his children were shot at as they endeavored to get from their residence to a cabin in the yard.

Arrest of the Militiamen.

Late in the afternoon John Gibbons and Judge Durant went to the militia camp and arrested Judge Duke and others. Many of the militiamen refused to participate in the attack. They said they did not understand it to be their duty to war against women and children. Great uneasiness prevails at Antlers. Fears are entertained that the town will be burned

Looking for More Trouble.

It is expected that Locke and the entire force will break camp and return to Antlers. If so, they may attack the militia. This opinion is strongly entertained by many. Should they do so it will more seriously complicate matters. Their attack on Locke's house is a vindication of his suspicion that they intended to kill him from the start.

May Adopt the Hanging Idea.

LANSING, Mich., March 29.—The escape of Latimer and murder of Haight has had an impression on the legislature and it is possible that a bill for capital punishment may become a law. The Brandage anti-free-pass bill was beaten yesterday in the senate. A bill was reported favorably to the house to tax bank stock at its full value regardless of mortgages held by banks.

Mothers Recommends It.

The strongest recommedation that any article can have is the endorsement of the mothers of the town. When the mothers recommend it you may know that article has more than ordinary merit. Here is what the Centerville, South Dakoto, Citizen says editorially of an article sold in their town: "From personal experience we can say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has broken up bad colds for our children. We are acquainted with many mothers in Centerville who would not be without it in the house for a good many times its cost, and are recommending it every day." 50 cent bottles for sale by W. D. THE ESTABLISHMENT OF STREET AND SIDEWALK GRADES

The proposition has been discussed somewhat, lately, of establishing a system of authorized grades throughout the city The matter is one in which all property-owners are concerned, though perhaps upon which not all are at present fully informed.

The object to be attained is the determination of a proper and desirable grade line for each street. All cities do this sooner or later. Few having enterprising citizens pass our size before establishing such a system. Monmouth, LaSalle and Sterling are some of our neighboring towns that I think of as having taken this step.

Some reasons to be offered for so doing, here, are as follows:

First,—Our city as well as the surrounding country seems to have adopted the plan of macadamizing the thoroughfares. Now, it is extremely desirable that the streets be brought to their permanent grade before being stone-coated; the stone coat is injured by digging and alterations after made, and, besides, such after work is very expensive.

Second,—Persons erecting good buildings, whether residences or business blocks, desire to know, and are entitled to know the street grade, so that they may build with regard to it, and not have property injured by a subsequent establishment of grade disadvantageous to the property. Any person building, any of your contractors, and I as a surveyor, realize how often this question comes up and how unsatisfactorily it always has to be answered, as no one knows where our street grades are to be.

Third,—In front of several of our best buildings stone sidewalks have been laid, the heavy expense being in some of the cases, if not all, shared by the city and the owner of the building. As in the case of a new building, the owner is helpless, because he knows not how to lay the walk, and the city cannot dictate, being equally ignorant. With grades established, the city can see to it that all sidewalks are laid in harmony with the crown of the street.

Fourth,—With grades established, the city could require all the corporations occupying the streets to lay their systems accordingly. The water company, would, when extending its mains, bury its pipes a safe distance below the ultimate surface of the street. As it now is, the city more than once has laid the mains liable to freezing by the removal of the dirt from above, or else has sunk them deeper at the public expense.

Fifth,—In the same manner, any street car company could be placed under more definite regulations, were the city itself aware what grade the streets would be brought to.

Sixth,—Incidentally, moreover, much would be learned which might serve as data in subsequently establishing a sewerage system.

The mode of getting at the work would be somewhat like this: The engineer would take levels along the middle of streets as now existing, at all intersections, at varying distances between, and, occasionally, on adjacent property. From the data thus obtained he would suggest a profile. With a properly appointed committee of men of good judgement, from the council or otherwise, as might be deemed best, the street would then be gone over, block by block, and the effect of the engineer's suggestions noted. The result of their joint wisdom would then be submitted to the council for adoption as the system of grades for the city.

The preservation of the work is secured by taking permanent objects all over the city, such as stone door sills, water tables hydrants, etc., as "bench marks." The elevation of these is noted to a nicety and, with a description of the benches, is made a record. The profiles of the several streets are drawn and bound in a book of record. The profiles and bench records are turned over to the city.

It must be apparent to everyone that the early establishment of grades is, if any difference, more to be desired in the outlying portions of the city, than even in the interior, for the reason that in those parts building is being more pushed and yet there are now fewer buildings which can be unfavorably affected by alteration of the present crown of street.

Another thought is that such advantages as would accure would be most wide-spread in their application, reaching all parts of the city equally.

I have mentioned only the practical points of this question, but it is also to be considered whether we might not in this same measure do something toward beautifying the forty-five miles of street of the laid-out city of Dixon.

WOOSUNG TO THE FRONT.

F. E Brimblecom of Woosung, formerly a teacher in Lee County., will, the coming year take a chair in Latin in the Chicago schools.

When quite a boy Frank, in his home school, led the class of youth in mathmetics, and began teaching at the early age of sixteen. He rapidly rose in his profession and after a successful principalship at Courtland, Ill., he entered the Ann Arbor preparatory school, where he received the highest class credit in Greek and mathematics doing four, years of prescribed Latin in one year.

The following year he entered college at Ann Arbor, doing most efficient work Frank, well-known as "Bunnie" among his school mates, is a farmer's boy and has always been a careful and hard working student. Besides he is the brightest intellect who ever left our school.

It is said that it takes three generations to make a gentleman. Frank is such in the highest sense of the word. His father, Henry Brimblecom, is a graduate of Dartmouth and his grandfather a graduate of Harvard college. They are a family of scholars. Though Frank is but twenty-four years of age, still we must dub him Professor of Languages. Our subject has shown some inclinations toward the Methodist ministry, but he is a natural teacher and we predict for the young man a most brilliant future in the profession he has chosen.

Lee County's Columbian Volume.

There is a good word of encouragement for our Columbian Club in the following comment upon the fact that the ladies of Ottawa have raised a thousand dollars to pay for a book, which is to set forth at the World's Fair the history, beauties, flora, etc., etc., of that city. This book is as large over as a page of THE TELEGRAPH, and is made up of beautiful water-color sketches, fine engravings, delicate etchings and the like; in short, it is a marvel of beauty. But, says one, who is an excellent judge of the merits of such a case, such a book is not nearly so valuable as the simple, plain volume the Lee County women are preparing. They have but one copy of their's. It will be ruined if handled during the exposition; if not it will be of no value as an exhibit, and afterwards can only be preserved in some public library or museum, while the stories of pioneer life, which our ladies are gathering, in a simple, inexpensive form make a book which can be owned by every family, and enjoyed at every fireside, and will be more and more valuable as time goes on, and the children of today realize that it was compiled by their parents in honor of their older relatives.

We will add that on the occasion of her visit here last week Mrs. Chase brought a number of photographs of the old settlers of Amboy, to be engraved for the book. Her work in preparing the sketch of that township has been most thorough and painstaking, and if Dixon does not wish to come limping in at the end of the line, the daughters of the old settlers must look up the photographs of their fathers and mothers. The sons must pay for the engraving and the good work must go on rapidly. Let us hear from Dixon without delay.

The Plymouth Clothing House,
WILL this week offer some of the most Startling Bargains in CLOTHING, for Men and Boys, that will simply sink into utter insignificance all other Easter Sales. It is customary in this whole wide world that on Easter everybody comes out in his or her best. Now we want to impress on your minds that we are an Exclusive Clothing House; we don't carry dry goods, we don't carry shoes and we don't carry groceries, therefore we have no baits in any of the above lines to catch the unsuspecting. Having made the clothing business a study for many years; knowing what the people want; carrying a stock far in excess of any would-be-called-clothiers; manufacturing our own goods for our 54 stores, places us where we can and will sell you Clothing CHEAPER and BETTER than those who are compelled to buy their goods through the middleman. We below give you a hint which would be appropriate for Easter:

A Nice Spring Overcoat!
A Nobby Suit of Clothes!
A Pair of Trousers!
One of the Latest Hats!
Neckwear, The Most Stylish!

And the Boys, which surely must not neglect, an Elegant Suit cut the Latest style. Don't fail to see us before making your purchase.
